Curling Club Holds Its Annual Meeting

The Chinook curling club re organized for the 1933-34 season at a fairly well attended meeting held last Wednesday evening Oct 18 in the station waiting room. A general discussion on financial matters and ways and means of securing a membership large enough to make it worth while to curl this winter took place. Nothing definite along this line was decided however, and the executive committee will canvass the town and at a meeting to take place at the station on Wed. Nov 1 reports will be made and it will then be decided whether or not their is sufficient interest to warrant going ahead with plans to curl this winter.

Officers elected for the ensuing season are as follows: President, C. Bennett. Vice-Pres., H. W. Butts. Sec. Treas., A. V. Youell. Draw master, Todd. Auditor, Langley.

Following the election of officers, committees were named as listed below.

Executive; Johnston, Murray, and Lee.

Ice Com; Todd, Cooley, and Chapman.

Entertainment com; Johnston, Elford, and Butts.

Although nothing for sure will be known until after the Nov. 1st meeting, it was suggested that in the case of their not being as large a number desirous of curling as in the past, that only one sheet of ice be flooded. This would mean a considerable cutting down on expenses.

In regard to fees, the suggestion was put forth that they be; $4 for men, $2 for ladies, and $2 for juniors.

Rearville News

Mr and Mrs Hobson and family were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr and Mrs. W. F. Anderson.

Miss Etienne was guest over the week end at the home of Mr. E. B. Allen.

A real old fashioned winter began on Friday last; lets hope it is to be followed by a good summer.

Mailman E. Blagen was a most popular man last week-end. Some folks making three trips to the post office to see him.

Ray Trogan returned from the north last Tuesday.

C. G. I. T. Group Is To Be Formed

Under the leadership of Miss Etienne a C. G. I. T. group is being organized at Myrtle school in the near future. Owing to stormy weather it was impossible to get organized last Saturday, but it is hoped to get started at an early date and get well on into the winters work. All girls over 11 years of age are most cordially invited to join.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN

There has been a rather brisk upturn in wheat prices during the past week. President Roosevelt's new stabilization scheme being the principle reason.

Card Party And Dance, Fri., Nov. 10

Plans are going ahead for the staging of a big card party and dance, Friday evening, Nov. 10 the affair is being sponsored by the newly formed Chinook Skating Club and will be held in the ball room of the Chinook hotel, which will be comfortably heated for the occasion. The entertainment committee of Elford, Robinson, and Youell are making arrangements for a pleasant evening for all who attend.

The early part of the evening will be spent playing bridge, with the latter half will be devoted to dancing. The Chinook orchestra will be in attendance so that good music is assured.

The price of admission will be 25c each, and the proceeds from the evening being used to defray expenses of operating the skating rink for the coming winter as far as possible. Should sufficient support be shown; an attempt will be made, as mentioned last week, to operate the rink without having to set a charge on skating. So here's a chance for every citizen to help himself or herself and many other less fortunate ones to many enjoyable hours this coming winter.

The night's entertainment will commence at 8 p.m. sharp with the first hands of bridge. Lunch will be served free of charge afterwards and the dancing will begin as soon as possible.

W. I. Demonstration

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, under the auspices of the local W. I., Miss Milne, of the Women's Bureau, Dept. of Agriculture, gave demonstration classes in the United Church at Chinook. At all meetings there were many women of both town and country on hand to take advantage of the instruction given.

Tuesday morning Miss Milne spoke on the samples of work that she had brought with her. Washing and dyeing of wool being of particular interest to the women.

Tuesday afternoon was spent in practice work; some working with dyed egg shell in the form of stucco work, and some with flour and salt coloured plaster.

Wednesday morning instruction was given in rug making with the dyed wool, and Wednesday afternoon was spent in doing paper plaster work.

All those who were present at the meetings departed feeling that they had profited greatly by the course.

During the two day course the town ladies of town entertained the country ladies at their various homes. The latter wish to take this opportunity of thanking the former for this kindly extended hospitality, which was greatly appreciated.

Card Club Notes

The card club met at the home of Mrs. Charlie Bennett last Tuesday evening, Oct. 24. The honors for the evening were shared by Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Chapman. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Butts next Tuesday evening.

Shall There Be Peace?

The sudden and startling announcement by Germany on October 14 of her withdrawal from the disarmament conference and of her intention to resign her membership in the League of Nations, coupled with the immediate dissolution of the Reichstag and the calling of a general election to record the approval of the German people to these far-reaching and momentous decisions, threw a new note of alarm and disquietude into a world already distressed with a multiplicity of problems. For months past the leading statesmen of the world have been striving to avert another war, and to bring the nations into agreement in regard to disarmament in order, not only to ease the financial burden which those armaments impose, but to provide assurance of future peace. Germany's precipitate action endangers the success of these efforts which, in many ways, were not too promising in any event.

What can Canada do to help avert such a disaster as another world war? As a matter of fact, can the people of this Dominion do anything? Nothing spectacular perhaps; nothing possibly of a direct nature. Nevertheless, neither Canada nor other nations smaller and less important in the world arena than Canada, are altogether powerless. Each and all have their influence to throw in the scale for or against war. Our own attitude towards other nations is one way in which we convey to them our stand for war or peace. If we favor extreme nationalistic policies, then in the eyes of other nations we will be regarded in an unfriendly light, and our influence will thus be thrown in the scale of war. If, on the other hand, we steadily and consistently, and in every possible way, display goodwill towards other nations, and prove by our acts that we desire the largest and freest intercourse and co-operation with them; that we recognize their problems and are willing to help in their solution; that we are not taking a purely selfish position in our international relationships; then, Canada will make friends, will extend existing friendships, will increase its influence with other nations, and will be in a position to do much to maintain peace and banish war.

Following the announcement of Germany's intentions, Hon. Arthur Henderson, British chairman of the world disarmament conference in what a Press correspondent at Geneva described as swift and emphatic phrase, demanded a new effort for disarmament. Mr. Henderson's words are addressed to all peoples and nations. Canada included. Giving heed to them is one way in which Canada may at this time help prevent a recurrence of war. It is important that those words should reach as many people as possible, thus we aid in the good work by passing them on to the readers of this column.

"My message to you," Mr. Henderson told a great peace delegation, "is that disarmament must go on and the League covenant must not be treated as a scrap of paper. It cost ten million dead and twenty million wounded to bring the League into being. We will not break faith with the dead who fell that there should be no more war. We will not suffer the hope that peace will be killed. We will not let the world plunge into barbarism through another world war."

"To you who represent public opinion, I would say, nail your flag to the mast of the League. Make the will to peace stronger and more steadfast than the will to war. Every task or organizing peace must spur us to further efforts. Every delay or defeat must call forth fresh resolve, stubborn and relentless energy."

"We are faced with a situation that makes it necessary to go down to fundamentals. We must think things out afresh. We must search our own hearts and consciences. We must make our stand and tell the world where we stand. The withdrawal of Germany makes it necessary to ask ourselves what it is we are trying to do in Geneva."

"What is the enterprise to which the civilized world has been committed since humanity emerged from the greatest and most terrible war in history? The answer is we are endeavoring to organize peace."

The enterprise was not confined to members of the League, he went on, but the League was the core and the basis of a collective peace system. "So long as each nation is the judge of its own rights to free arms and uses its arms as it sees fit, war is inevitable. However just its cause or good its intentions, no government can be trusted to remain loyal to the cause of peace if it flouts the collective peace system to which the world is now pledged. A country which rejects that system, whatever its intentions is inevitably encouraging its citizens to regard war as legitimate and inevitable."

Mr. Henderson's message calls for a re-affirmation by Canada of its unswerving loyalty to the League of Nations, of its determination to prevent war to the last ounce of its strength, and to promote peace in all its many manifestations.

His concise statement of the enterprise in which the civilized world has been engaged since the end of the Great War, namely, to organize peace, should impress itself on the minds of every Canadian. The need of an assured peace is what the world needs more than anything else. It is more important than banking reform, more important than the abolition of tariffs, more important than startling changes in our political, economic and social order—and it is more important because it is the absence of an assurance of peace, and the fear of war at any moment, that is the cause of the existing world depression. It is that fear of war which is the stumbling block to overcoming the depression. And until that fear is removed the depression will continue regardless of what may be in vogue.

Any Looseness of the Bowels Is Always Dangerous

When the bowels become loose and diarrhoea, dysentery, summer complaint and other bowel troubles set in, immediate attention should be given and the discharges checked before they become habit.

To check these unnatural discharges there is a remedy in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past 88 years. It is rapid, reliable and effective in its action. A few doses is generally all that is required to give relief.

Blames Faulty Thermometers

Scientist States Winter Not As Cold

In North As Reported

Winter in the north country is warmer than many people believe. Tall stories of record low temperatures are due, in many cases, to faulty thermometers in the opinion of Dr. J. M. Stagg, leader of the British polar year scientists who spent 13 months at Fort Rae, North West Territories, studying weather conditions. Dr. Stagg said he and his colleagues were surprised the ground temperature was as high in winter time as they found it. He believed inaccurate instruments used in the north made the temperature appear much lower than it was actually. Lowest temperature recorded by them at Fort Rae was 40 below zero.

"PERSONS NOT FAT LIVE LONGEST"

Eminent Physician Declares

In a recent lecture before the American Academy of Medicine, a prominent physician stated that persons who aren't fat live the longest. Common sense confirms this. Insurance companies often reject overweight folks, or charge higher premiums on account of the risk. Fat crowds and weakens body organs—it slows you down and puts unnecessary strain on the heart. A host of ailments (even rheumatism, acidity, shortness of breath and lassitude) are often associated with fat.

So get rid of this dangerous, unhealthy fat. There's no reason why you shouldn't, when science has given you this safe, effective treatment—a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salt in a glass of hot water first thing every morning.

This healthful "little daily dose" of Kruschen keeps the system free from harmful toxins. It helps to re-establish normal and proper body functioning—it keeps you feeling fine and fit all the time. Energetic activity takes the place of sluggish indolence all while you lose excess fat gradually and without discomfort.

Egg Grading Change

New Plan Simplifies Grading Of Eggs and Changes Old System

In future grades eggs will consist of "A", "1", "2", "3", "4", "5", "6", "7", "8", "9", "10", "11", "12", "13", "14", "15", "16", "17", "18", "19", "20", "21", "22", "23", "24", "25", "26", "27", "28", "29", "30", "31", "32", "33", "34", "35", "36", "37", "38", "39", "40", "41", "42", "43", "44", "45", "46", "47", "48", "49", "50", "51", "52", "53", "54", "55", "56", "57", "58", "59", "60", "61", "62", "63", "64", "65", "66", "67", "68", "69", "70", "71", "72", "73", "74", "75", "76", "77", "78", "79", "80", "81", "82", "83", "84", "85", "86", "87", "88", "89", "90", "91", "92", "93", "94", "95", "96", "97", "98", "99", "100".

The words "new laid" will be used only in conjunction with grade "A", "1", and the word "fresh" may be applied only to grades "A", "1" and "A."

All eggs possessing the quality of grade "A" may be sold in that grade irrespective of size. However, eggs of different sizes must be packed separately with the size indicated on the container.

Storage eggs will not be permitted to be sold in a higher grade than grade "B."

For another year the Manitoba pool elevators will retain $300,000 owing to the Manitoba Government as working capital. An order-in-council authorizing a continuation of the credit was passed. Control Milk Prices

A drive of Fraser Valley milk producers for a minimum price for the product was climaxed at a meeting of representatives from all over the valley. League Issues Warning

Countries Must Abandon System Of

Closed National Economies

"There seem to be no real signs the depression is gradually lifting," reads a cheering report presented to the League of Nations committee on economic and financial questions.

"In industrial countries," said the report, "production is increasing and unemployment is diminishing, while in the aggregate the exports of countries whose economy is mainly devoted to agriculture and mining are gradually improved."

"At the same time visible stocks of the great majority of raw materials and foodstuffs about which information is available would appear to be declining."

But the report adds warningly, "The point has again been made within the League of Nations that there can be no lasting improvement of the economic situation unless the different countries are prepared to abandon the system of closed national economies which are tending today to become general, and which threaten to stifle international trade."

The report was presented by August Schmidt, Estonian Minister to Rome.

Tuberculosis Runs In Cycles

During Each 200 Years Virulence

Varies States Doctor

Tuberculosis runs in cycles of 200 years, during which time its virulence varies from weak to strong, Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, said at Kansas City. This gradual growth in the intensity of the disease through a long period of time is similar to the ebb and flow of epidemics of influenza which occur every 18 or 20 years, he told the southwest clinic. Since 1850, he said, the tuberculosis cycle has been on the down grade. But the coming 100 years will show a gradual upturn in intensity.

Duck hunters of the prairie provinces may be out of luck within a few years. This year more grey mallards have appeared at Salt Lake, Mar. 10, than ever before. Progress Has Been Slow

Television Has Lagged Behind Development Of Sound Transmission

Chevalier Guglielmo Marconi, back in New York, revealed that his new micro-waves are expected to give a substantial impetus to television. At the same time he stated that he was more interested in the conveyance of sound than images.

Some great scientific minds have been working on the problems of television, but very little progress has been made. Television has lagged behind compared with the rapid development of sound transmission, which can hardly be improved on. Radio men say sound has reached perfection. At the same time radio listeners are really anxious to become radio lookers. Marvellous as radio is, the public seeks a new thrill.

It will come when they get it. But will the public like it when they get it? It would be great to see the world series baseball, the Derby, or a big parade, but so far as having to see the crooners and croakers of radio as well as listening to them—well, that might be just too bad!—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

An Interesting Discovery

Glasgow Youth Finds Carving Belonging To Stone Age

Carved at least 20,000 years ago a stone duck has been found on the shores of Loch Awe, Scotland, by a Glasgow youth. While he was building a cairn he saw a beautifully shaped little stone, which he decided would make an ideal crown for his handiwork. To his surprise he found it fastened to something buried below the surface, and when he dug it all up he found a carving of a duck in a sitting posture. Ludovic Mann, an expert in prehistoric relics, believes the carving was carefully shaped by a lapidary of very ancient times—not improbably of the paleolithic age. In all its measurable dimensions—seven—the stone fitted unerringly the prehistoric measure, proving it to be a veritable "artifact" of early times.

A Rare Painting

Portrait Of King Henry Eighth Found Under Peculiar Circumstances

Removal of four coats of paint from a portrait of King Henry VIII. has revealed what is claimed to be a masterpiece from the brush of the great Hans Holbein, the "Merry Monarch" court painter. The portrait, apparently dated 1542, shows the corpulent ruler distinctly grayer than his picture extant.

The painting belongs to Geoffrey Howard, of Castle Howard, near York, and is a half-length portrait of the oft-married king who ruled England from 1509 to 1547.

Gentlemen (who is visiting, to little boy of the house): "And why won't you let me take you on the river in a nice boat?"

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt, young and beautiful commercial artist, and Peter Anson, a struggling sculptor, meet in an art class and fall in love. She is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family, but she is not to share in their fortune when she comes of age. They are faced with the problem of "marriage or career" and Camilla does not want to let Peter down when he has so much promise as a sculptor. At an art school dance, Gus Matson, Peter's roommate, who is jealous of Peter's success, takes Camilla out on the lawn to tell her "something she should know about Peter." Gus tells Camilla Peter is a cheat, that he only wants her money, and that he, Gus, loves her himself. At that moment Peter appears on the scene and knocks Gus flat. On the way home from the party Camilla tells Peter they are going to do something about their problem.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XIV.

"We are going to be married, soon, Peter, darling," Camilla told him.
"Why—why, honey, we shouldn't dare to!" incredulously.
"A fraud, Peter?"
"For myself? No, of course not."
"For whom?"
"Why—for you! I couldn't take care of you."
"I shouldn't let you. I'll take care of myself—until you succeed."
"I couldn't let you do that," he protested with finality.
"Why couldn't you, Peter? I'll have to do that, anyway, whether I am your wife or not. Why can't I be your wife, too?"
"My wife!" he repeated, with awe.
"You would—take that chance, dear, before I have proved to you that I can do anything worth while?"
"I'd take bigger chances than that to have you and your love. Why not? Where is the risk?"
"Well—suppose I failed, after all? Suppose I never really amount to much?"

"You would still be you," gently.
"Yes, I suppose so."
"Well, Peter, it's you I love and want. Nothing else makes a lot of difference to me, except that I want for you everything that you want to be, for your sake as much as mine."

"Sweetheart!" he gave her a double demonstration of his appreciation. "What a girl!" he exclaimed and laughed tremulously. She clung to him, weak with emotion and reluctant to lose the sweet ecstasy with which it filled her. She was part of the night, its beauty and silence and fragrance, there in his arms with his lips upon hers.

"Don't let me go!" she whispered.
"I wish I needn't—ever!" vehemently.

"Then why don't you want to marry me soon?"

"Want to? If I only dared!"
"Then you shall. And it won't make a bit of difference to either of us, financially. We shall live just as we had planned before we met."

"But I can't even provide you a decent place to live," helplessly.

"You won't need to. I just told you that we'll live exactly as we've planned before, except that we shall belong to each other."

"You mean—not even live together?"

"That would be fatal to your work, Peter, and the last thing we should think of doing. I shouldn't consider living with you until you are established. You must not think of taking on the responsibilities of a home until then. But that need not keep us from finding a little happiness."

"That isn't the way it should be," he objected.

"You are so stubborn, darling," she sighed. "Not the way it should be, but better than nothing, isn't it? Better than waiting for years—and years—" wistfully.

"You almost convince me," he drew her close again, eagerly. "Are you sure you wouldn't regret it? I can't tell you how much it would mean to me!"

"You needn't, because I know. But I'll marry you, Peter, only on my terms—that you are to assume no responsibilities whatever, and that we shall live apart until you can afford to take care of me. It is your work I am thinking of, Peter."

"More than of me?"

"Of course not. After us, but it means everything to us, doesn't it?"

"That's right."

"Suppose we had to wait five years—ten—to have each other—for love—with one long embrace, she gave him her first voluntary kiss before she continued, "just because of a few stupid dollars that we should need, to live together in the regular way that convention follows."

"I know, I suppose it would be impossible, anyway," he admitted. "We are not children. You are almost twenty-one and I am twenty-five. Camilla, we should know what we want to do. But if you insist upon taking care of yourself, why not combine like other fifty-five marriages?"

"Too many of those fail, Peter. No, if we marry, our problem requires an individual solution. When a girl tries to be a business woman, a wife and a housekeeper, she almost always fails in one of the three, and that one is usually in being a wife. It would be even worse for a man like you."

"In the first place, you would work alone and have more time to brood over trifles. You are sensitive and would feel your irresponsibility more than the average man. If we lived together, your studio would have to be our home. When I rushed off to my office-hour job and neglected anything, you would feel that you should do the work because your work led you to no definite hours. More and more, you would become the man, the home wearing the apron and feeling sorry for your tired working-wife. No, Peter, it never would do for us to live together until you have made good."

"How can you be in love and yet so practical?" he wondered with tender amusement.

"That's not being as practical as it sounds," she laughed softly. "Most of all, I want to keep the romance of our marriage. Peter, we can just go on being lovers—having the excitement and expectation of seeing each other after days of separation. Our holidays—they will be, such happy holidays when we are together for a little while. And these hours together will be so much more precious to us housekeeping problems and worries. We shall meet and part as strange lovers. Won't that be much more romantic?"

"But the parting?" he objected.

"You're not a bit like Romeo, are you? You know he said that parting is such sweet pleasure."

"What did he know about it? He when they are not crowded with never parted from you."

She laughed happily and they kissed again. Presently, she said slowly,

"There's another thing about our waiting for years and years to marry. Do you remember what you said that first night we talked together, about wanting a thing so intensely and so long that finally when you could have it, you didn't want it?"

"Why, Camilla, you don't mean that we could change our minds over about wanting each other?"

"It could happen, Peter."

"Oh, sure, even lots of people who marry, change their minds about each other afterward. But not us."

"But that isn't what I mean, dear. I don't think we ever could do that, if we have each other and share everything as we go along. We shall develop together then. But if we have to live on hope alone and go our separate ways, we may drift apart in our interests—well, and find that we are not what each other wanted. There's a phrase running in my mind that someone wrote, 'The sickening pang of hope deferred.' Doesn't that sound ominous?"

"Whatever it is, we are going to take no chances with it," Peter declared.

"But, say," she held him off suddenly. "I'm doing all the arguing about this. It sounds as if I were trying to make you marry me against your will."

"Darling, you know that isn't true. You are only convincing me that you are willing to take a bigger chance with me than I have any right to ask of you. Yet I am selfish enough to ask you, even though I love you better than anything in life," he loved her tenderly.

"Because you love me better than anything in life," she corrected him.

Form Old Machinery Trust

English Company Trying To Protect Lancashire Textile Mills

To stave off competition from abroad a trust has been formed in England to buy up machinery from mills that have had to close down temporarily. The purpose is to prevent the machinery from getting into the hands of brokers and being sold for absurdly small sums to foreign manufacturers who would find it so much the easier to compete with the textile mills of Lancashire. One case is cited of nearly new machines sold in Japan for one-tenth of their original cost.

Great Britain Imports Butter From Australia

Demand Has Necessitated Great Increase In Number Of Cattle
Owing to the fact that there are three million head of dairy cattle in Australia against a population of seven million human beings practically all the butter derived from the milk of these animals is exported to England. Even so the demand for high-grade Australian butter in Great Britain has necessitated an increase in the number of cattle by 17,000 in the past two years. Australian proportion of dairy cattle to the population is the highest in the world, the comparative figures for Britain being 2,000,000 cattle and 47 million people.

Wales Wants Canadian Cattle

Fortnightly Service Of Cargoes To Cardiff Is Advocated
A determined attempt is being made to revive Cardiff's import trade in Canadian cattle and to secure a regular fortnightly service of cargoes into the port.

During June a consignment of 540 heads from Ontario and Saskatchewan arrived, and most of them were sold by private treaty. Donald Munro of Montreal, who handled the business, said that Cardiff was finely situated to deal with this traffic and act as distributing centre not only for South Wales, but also for the Midlands and the south and west of England.

At present the only extensive imports of cattle from Canada are those into Glasgow and Birkenhead. If the new venture succeeds, the ships bringing the cattle will be loaded with South Wales products for the Canadian market.

Describes New Discovery

Oil Is Almost Pure Vitamin "A" States Its Maker
A new, pale yellow oil, 9,200 times more potent than ordinary cod liver oil, was described to the Ohio-Michigan section of the Chemical Society.

The oil is almost pure vitamin "A," said its maker, Prof. Harry N. Holmes, of Oberlin University. It represents America's stake in an international scientific race to be first with isolation of vitamin "A," the disease-resistance builder.

At the university of Zurich, Dr. Karrer has produced a similar oil 10,000 times as powerful as cod liver oil; while three Englishmen have reached Vitamin "A" concentrations in similar oils 6,000 times and 800 times stronger than the fish oil.

Professor Holmes gets his near-vitamin "A" from halibut liver oil.

When sorrow all our heart would ask, We need not shun our daily task, And hide ourselves for calm; The herbs we seek to heal our woe Familiar by our pathway grow, Our common air is balm.

—J. Keble.

When we turn away from some duty or some fellow creature saying our hearts are too sick and sore with some great yearning of our own, we may sever the line on which a divine message was coming to us. We shut out the man, and we shut out the angel who had sent him on to open the door. There is a plan working in our lives, and if we keep our hearts quiet and our eyes open it all works together, and if we do not it all fights together and keeps on fighting till it comes right somehow, somewhere.—Annie Keary.

Mail Stolen From Liner

Three Registered Sacks Disappeared Between New York And Plymouth

Three sacks of registered mail, said to contain several thousand dollars worth of negotiable bonds and other securities, were stolen while the new United States liner "Manhattan" was on high seas federal authorities admitted. The loss was discovered when the Manhattan, which left New York September 13, arrived at Plymouth, England, on September 18. The missing sacks were part of a shipment of 100 sacks. Those stolen were consigned to England, Holland and Poland.

Are You WEARY?

Do you find it hard to do things some days? Days when body and brain feel oppressed? Incomplete elimination of body wastes is probably the reason. It is most likely the reason even though you are as regular as can be in your daily habits, because regularly is no guarantee of completeness. Follow these simple health rules: Eat moderately, sleep sufficiently, get lots of fresh air and exercise—and once or twice every week take a bracing, invigorating glass of Andrew Liver Salt. Andrew's will purify and invigorate your whole system, and help Nature and those tired, "headachey" days. Get Andrew's Liver Salt from your druggist. Scottish Troops Abroad

While the Essex Scottish, the Windsor Kilts, were at the Chicago's World's Fair one Chicago paper termed them the "Royal Canadian Guard" and the Tribune stated that the colonel had been specially sent from Buckingham Palace to represent King George. It's a wonder that the drum major was not designated as the Prince of Wales.

Real ASPIRIN Starts Taking Hold in Few Minutes

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia... the fastest relief, it is said, yet discovered.
Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.
The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And this is ready to go to work almost instantly.
When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN's quick relief, be sure the name Bayer is in the form of a cross on every tablet of Aspirin.

Odds & Ends

(By L. C. L.)

How's the hay and oats?

According to Rearville news the Mailman was very popular the past week end. No reason given, so think it out yourself.

At that we'll bet he didn't have anything on our relief agent.

Nor on horses, (not the song nor "The Kings Horses,") but just plain horses, which animal is gaining popularity over the modern motor car of late, with snow blocking most country highways, roads, trails, lanes, paths, etc. etc.

It is heard that mixed rinks will be the vogue for curling this winter. Nothing like fostering good will among the different sexes. Especially during the long frosty evenings of the winter months.

A Scot on holiday in Palestine came to the sea of Galilee, and on inquiring the price of a pleasure boat found that they were 3s 6d an hour.

"Three an' saxpence," he exclaimed, "and we get one in Aberdeen for saxpence!"

"Ah, but this is Palestine," answered the boatman, "and these are the waters on which Our Lord walked."

"Nae wonder he walked" was the dry retort.

Heavy Snowfall Occurs

On Friday of last week the Chinook district experienced one of the largest snow storms that has been for some years. The snow is a welcome visitor as it means that the drouth is broken, but on the other hand if it has come to stay so early in the season, it will prove to be a serious problem if the farmers have to start feeding the stock so early. The weather is still unsettled and cold, with snow flurries and rain.

W. I. Meeting

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will meet Wednesday Nov 1st, at Mrs. Lee's home, assistant hostesses being Mrs. N. F. Marcy and Mrs. W. Milligan. The program is on "Canadian Industries." Roll Call—Canadian goods and where they are made.

DANCE

There will be a dance Friday evening, October 27. The music will be supplied by the peppy Chinook orchestra, and it will be held in the ballroom of the Chinook hotel. Everybody is welcome and a good time is assured. The price of admission will only be 25c per person, so here is a great opportunity to get tuned up for the winter dancing season.

COAL PRODUCTION

Coal production for July for the province totalled 197,143 tons, a slight reduction from the production of the same month of last year.

The population of Stockholm, Sweden, has been officially announced at 519,311 persons, an increase of 5,376 since the close of 1931.

Heard Around Town

J. W. Turple, J. W. Shier, and son Jack motored to Calgary last week. Mr. Turple and Mr. Shier returned while Jack remained at Calgary for medical treatment.

Congratulations to Mr. H. G. McCrea who is publisher of the "Hanna Herald", was elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Alberta Division, Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association for the ninth successive year, at the annual convention which was held at Edmonton, on October 20th and 21st.

Miss Rowland, of Alderside, Alta., is visiting for a few weeks with Mrs. W. A. Todd.

Neil McLean and Glen Johnston are shipping out their settlers effects this week. Mr. McLean is going to the Edmonton district and Mr. Johnston to the Ponoka district.

Audrey Rideout has had a very severe attack of "flu" for the past two weeks, but at time of writing is recovering.

Mr. Reid, of Edmonton, who has been supervisor of the direct relief for this district, left for his home on Tuesday.

Canadian Rockies Pioneer Passes

Tom Wilson, pioneer, died recently.

Tom Wilson is dead. Pathfinder, trail-blazer, hunter, trapper, prospector, Indian trader, wise adviser and dependable friend, oldest and most celebrated of Canadian Rockies guides, the last of the pioneers, Tom Wilson has gone to the Happy Hunting Grounds and if there are no mountains, no deer, blue lakes hidden by curtains of trees, no difficult passes to find and travel, no new peaks to conquer, it will scarcely be Paradise to him. He has gone; we shall not look upon his like again.

His life work started as far back as 1851 when he went out with the Canadian Pacific exploring and surveying parties through the Rockies. In 1852 he set the foundations of his later fame with his discovery of Lake Louise and Emerald Lake, following it up with the blazing of the foot trail up the Yoho Valley in 1854.

In his own person he was history, the history of the western mountains. It was fitting that he should be present at the driving of the last spike on that fateful day of November 1855 that saw the completion of the Canadian Pacific trans-continent main line across the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He was the last of the great men who there assembled.

In 1854 he made his discovery of Lake Louise accessible by blazing a trail to that beautiful spot; in 1857 he took his first party to camp at the base of

A very interesting U. F. A. meeting was held in the Peyton school last Saturday afternoon and was well attended. At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the ladies.

The Prairie Rock Club held their meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Smith. The afternoon was spent in doing various kinds of needle craft. Later a dainty lunch was served.

Mr and Mrs. Hobson and family were guests on Sunday at the W. Anderson home.

It is regretted that Messrs. H. Trojan and Walter Anderson, and Miss Eva McPherson were not at Peyton on Saturday to help eat the delicious cakes that were specially made by two young ladies in honor of their birthdays.

Remember the dance and card party at Peyton, Oct. 27.
